Illinois First War Election in Score of Years Tomorrow

Voters Will Decide What Kind of Government They Want at Polls

Tomorrow, Tuesday, April 14, will be primary election day in Lee county. The polling precincts will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the complete returns from the 39 county precincts will be compiled at the Telegraph office as rapidly as they can be secured from the precinct election officials. In Dixon, the polling places are located as follows:

First—Selgestad planing mill office.

Second—Nettz & Co. garage.

Third—City hall.

Fourth—City steam laundry.

Fifth—Schacht-Tuck Co. offices.

Sixth—Arthur Miller garage.

Seventh—Burmester Coal Co. office.

Eighth—Finkler store.

Ninth—Schuck & Bates store.

Tenth—Oscar Johnson Buick garage.

Eleventh—Masonic Temple.

Twelfth—Hutten's barber shop.

UP TO VOTERS

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Illinois' primary election campaign drew to a close today, leaving to the people the choice of what kind of government they want in time of war.

The state's first war time election in 22 years will be held tomorrow. Balloting in a record number of 8,616 precincts, the voters will nominate candidates for U. S. senator, state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, 25 seats in congress, 27 seats in the state senate and 153 in the house, as well as for various local officials.

A wide difference of opinion still existed on the extent to which a war-conscious public would participate in the election. Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, a Democrat, has predicted the vote would be the lightest in 20 years, probably not exceeding 1,585,000.

Other sources, however, particularly on the Republican side, forecast a vote approaching 2,000,000 and took steps to bring it off if possible. Gov. Dwight H. Green, who has taken no active part in the campaign, urged all citizens to cast a ballot, while Ben L. Berve, chairman of the Republican state central committee, asserted it would be unamerican not to vote this year.

Many Absentee Ballots

More than 6,000 Chicago voters have requested absentee ballots, about 90 per cent of the requests coming from soldiers, but returns

Lee County First in Illinois to Apply for Zone Health Program

Springfield, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—Dr. Roland R. Cross, state Health Director, said today that Lee county in which the Green River Ordnance works is located, is the first county to apply for establishment of a defense zone health department.

Cross said "we expect to open the Lee county health office, operating on a full time basis, within a few days."

The health director said Lee county, the 19th to be designated as a health defense zone, "is furnishing its own office space and at least one public health nurse. The state health department will supply one public health physician, two sanitary engineers, two public health nurses and two stenographers."

The War Today!

The Indian rejection of Britain's offer of dominion status, in exchange for support in the war effort, certainly is portend and omen for the axis bowl, since this lack of coordination in defense of one of the strategically vital bases is a grave threat to the allied cause.

Pandit Nehru, political leader of the All-India Congress (Nationalist) party, who is said to have been one of a minority of the leaders favoring acceptance of the offer, discloses that Berlin and Tokyo have been sending "frantic appeals" in an effort to swing the Indians away from Britain. Thus the rejection of the plan gives the unholy brotherhood of Germany and Japan a chance, no matter how unwarranted, to stick another feather in its bonnet and claim a diplomatic success.

Indeed, while the Indians abhor the idea of any foreign overlordship, be it British or Japanese, there still remains a widespread feeling among them, as regards these two nations that, as Nehru puts it, "one is really as good or bad as the other." Nehru himself declares that he cannot tolerate this conception, but the fact that it exists most certainly hinders the axis going easier.

Whether the Japs will seize upon the weakness produced by the British-Indian imbroglio and attempt an invasion remains to be seen, but the situation is an invitation to them. The Nationalist idea of refraining from acting with the British and of organizing their own opposition to invasion is further encouraged by the fact that the Japanese, because such disorganized and conflicting defense must hamper its own ends.

America sympathizes with the Indian desire for independence since our own country went through a similar crisis. And one must admire the Indians' courage, however mistaken they may be in present instance, in standing on their own feet in face of invasion by barbaric hordes; the people of Hindustan never have been afraid to die. Still, I'm afraid that the folk of that still largely primitive country have small idea of what modern warfare can mean, for conflict since the days of swords has passed them by.

They can scarcely realize that their civilian hosts would be of no avail whatever against mechanized Japanese forces and aerial power. Nehru recognizes it and apparently has done all he can to show his people the light.

At the same time we mustn't forget that there are two sides to this age-old quarrel between British and Hindustan. Nehru said that a fundamental factor in India's attitude is "distrust or

Japan Warned Against "Blabbering" About Iberian Movement

(By The Associated Press)

In apparently growing conviction that the Red army holds the whiphand on Russia's European front, one of the leading mouthpieces of Russian policy declared sharply today that Japanese "blabbering" about invasion in the Russian east "might damage, first of all and most of all, Japan herself."

Thus, Pravda, newspaper organ of the Communist party, oddly observed the first anniversary of the signing of the Japanese-Russian neutrality pact, the basis of the uneasy peace between the two powers and striking in similarity to the Russian-German non-aggression pact which Germany voided by invasion of the soviet union last June.

Bespeaking readiness of the Red army for offensive action, a roundabout report credited to the Moscow radio said that the Russians had crossed the Desna river

Young Mother Dies in Open Lifeboat

Lewes, Del., April 13.—(AP)—For 13 days the young mother and her three-year-old child drifted at sea in an open lifeboat, huddled with 11 other survivors for meager protection from wind and rain.

Then, as the child whimpered, the exhausted mother died.

An hour later a plane sighted the bobbing craft and summoned a naval vessel to the rescue.

The Fourth Naval District told the story after the survivors were landed here, victims of the Palm Sunday sinking of an American freighter-passenger ship.

It was in another lifeboat from the same ship that a child was born to Mrs. Desanka Mohorovic, who reached Norfolk Va., April 2, with her baby and 87 other survivors.

The woman who died was Mrs. Sora Elter, 26. With her daughter, Miriam, she was on the way from Johannesburg, South Africa, for a reunion with her husband, Samuel, a New York City restaurant proprietor, and his father, Rabbi M. Elter of Harrisburg, Pa.

Seaman John A. McGinnis of Duluth, Minn., member of the ship's gun crew also died just before the lifeboat was sighted. Both bodies were brought ashore.

A navy spokesman said the rescue left 13 of the 124 persons aboard the ship "unaccounted for."

They were presumed lost he said, "when a third lifeboat launched from the ship was destroyed by the enemy submarine."

Guns of Corregidor Keep Jap Planes at Ineffective Range

Fortress Under Almost Constant Attack for Fast 24 Hours

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—The war department reported today that Corregidor's gunners sank a number of small Japanese boats and kept enemy air raiders so high over the Philippine island fortress that bombs in a series of new raids caused only minor damage.

A communique said the Japanese boats were in the harbor of the fishing village of Mariveles at the tip of the abandoned Bataan peninsula. Several were set afire in addition to those sunk.

Meanwhile, communication between Corregidor and Cebu was cut off for the past 48 hours so Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright was unable to report on the efforts to beat off an invasion of the central Philippine island, more than 300 miles south of Corregidor.

The communique reported belatedly the sinking by enemy action of two army freight ships, the Liberty and the Meigs, both of which went down in the southwest Pacific.

The Liberty was torpedoed twice by an enemy submarine January 11 when 12 miles from the Netherlands Indies island of Bali. No lives were lost. The vessel was beached and 53 crew men and one passenger were rescued by Dutch planes, some being flown to Soerabaja, and others to Bali.

Ten Raids On Corregidor

The Meigs was sunk February 19 in a bombing raid on the harbor of Darwin, Australia. The master, Captain F. S. Link, was wounded. One crew member was killed and eight were wounded.

Ten raids were made on Corregidor in the past twenty-four hours, the war department said, raising the total to 22 in the last two days.

The communique said there were some casualties but military installation sustained only minor damage.

For the fourth day, the war department was without direct information on what has taken place on the Bataan peninsula since General Wainwright reported early Thursday morning that it was believed that the defenses had been overcome.

General Wainwright disclosed Friday that for nearly 24 hours communications between Corregidor and the peninsula had been severed. There has been no indication since that they have been re-established.

The Japanese have asserted a formal surrender was offered by Major General Edward P. King, Jr. The war department identified him as the Bataan commander, a senior officer after General Wainwright's transfer to Corregidor.

Jap Planes Kept High

The war department reported twelve aerial raids last night but said that defending marksmen compelled the Japanese pilots to

Twelve Children in Kewanee Motherless Result of Accident

Kewanee, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—Twelve children were motherless today as the result of automobile accident yesterday in which Mrs. Dale Price, 28, mother of three, and Mrs. E. O. McBride, 43, mother of nine, were killed.

A coroner's jury was told that the women, both of Kewanee, had stepped from a parked automobile to cross the highway to a restaurant. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, exonerating Charles Johnson, 26, the driver of the automobile.

Patriotism

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Governor Green holds that "as long as voters refuse to exercise their sacred right of choosing the candidates to represent their will, just that long will cities and communities be preyed upon by machine dictators."

In his first public address of the campaign over radio station WGN, in which he made no endorsements for the statewide primary, he said yesterday "the men who will be elected next fall will be no better than the men you voters choose next Tuesday."

"Today, more than ever before in the history of our country," he continued, "it is the patriotic duty of every citizen to go to the polls and express himself on a ballot. It is a sacred privilege in a land where the ideals and hopes of freedom still prevail."

Driver of Rented Auto Meets Death on Ogle Crossing

Roy Murish, 54, Rockford cattle buyer and insurance agent, was killed at about 9:05 o'clock Saturday night when a rented automobile he was driving was struck by a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy streamlined Zephyr at the Anderson crossing of a north and south gravel road a mile west of Chana and about five miles east of Oregon.

Traveling east at a speed of between 75 and 80 miles an hour, the Zephyr struck the center of the automobile and carried it a distance of 100 feet. Murish, who was alone and driving south, suffered a skull fracture and crushing body injuries as the train dragged the car along the right-of-way. The car turned over several times.

Train Is Damaged

Deputy Sheriff John D. Wiley of Ogle county said the front end of the streamlined Zephyr was dented by the crash, and that the train, which was headed east, was stopped a half mile past the scene of the accident. The train resumed its trip after a 25-minute delay.

View of the tracks is partially obscured by a hill near the scene of the crash.

Murish was partly inside and partly outside of the car as the train pushed it along the tracks.

The body was removed to the Farrell funeral home in Oregon, where Dr. J. C. Atkins of Forreston, Ogle county coroner, conducted an inquest Sunday morning.

Son Killed 2 Years Ago

Murish is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. T. E. Frank, Rice avenue, Rockford, and Mrs. Nelson Mead, Caledonia. He was born in Carney, Neb., Aug. 7, 1887, and had lived in the Rockford vicinity for the past five years. A son was killed in an automobile accident two years ago between Rockford and Belvidere.

He was a cattle buyer and a representative of a Fort Atkinson, Wis. insurance company. He left his home at noon Saturday on a buying trip.

Rickenbacker Sees Five Years of War

Mitchell Field, N. Y., April 13.—(AP)—Col. Eddie Rickenbacker, American flying ace of the first World war, told the fighters at this air base today that in his opinion "this war will last a minimum of five years, barring miracles, with a possibility of its lasting ten years."

"And since no navy can function effectively without the superiority or control of the air, which also goes for the land forces of the army," he said, "we will need at least 300,000 pilots to achieve victory—100,000 as instructors and 200,000 combat pilots, scattered over the four corners of the world."

Col. Rickenbacker, who has just completed a 15,000-mile survey flight of all our air combat units, said that "I can tell you without batting an eye that man for man, and plane for plane, Uncle Sam has the greatest aerial fighting machine in the world today."

Reports Mussolini Is Completely Prostrated

London, April 13.—A special correspondent of the Daily Mail on the Italian frontier cabled today that Premier Mussolini was found in a state of "complete prostration" when examined by a specialist.

The dispatch said: "During the interview Il Duce sobbed bitterly, then burst into hysterical laughter. The specialist said Mussolini had lost all control of himself and no longer was able to manage his affairs as dictator of Italy, which now are reported in chaotic condition."

Nipponese Navy in Indian Waters Seen as Invasion Support

War's Strongest Challenge to Fleets of U. S. and Britain

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Editor

With at least a fourth of her total strength in battleships, her total strength in aircraft carriers and formidable contingents of supporting and covering craft, the Japanese Imperial fleet has seized effective control of the Bay of Bengal in the war's strongest challenge to the United States and British fleets.

Prime Minister Churchill gravely disclosed in the House of Commons today that at least three Japanese battleships, including one of 32,720 tons mounting 16-inch guns, along with five aircraft carriers, a number of light and heavy cruisers and several destroyer flotillas are operating there at the front door of India.

The size of the force indicated to Britain that it had been sent to support invasion of India. With such a force, London military observers said, the Japanese could shield the seaward flank of land forces descending from Burma, across the upper Bengal border into the Ganges basin.

Broadly suggesting a strategy to meet the challenge, with a possible implication of the need for United States naval participation, Churchill said: "We have the Pacific ocean and the Indian ocean with the Japanese occupying an intermediate position between the two. It is possible to use large forces on one side and small forces on the other, or vice versa."

His statement, covering the Easter Day bombing of Colombo and Trincomalee, strong points on Ceylon, and the subsequent sinking of the British aircraft carrier Hermes and the cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall, constituted an indirect admission that the Japanese had won dominance in the Bay of Bengal.

Engineer Arms in Contest of Draft

West Chesterfield, Mass., April 13.—(AP)—Armed with a shotgun, and asserting he would resist arrest on any ordinary grounds, Gregory Carhart, 29-year-old engineering school graduate, today awaited federal action on his refusal to appear for a physical examination for his scheduled induction into the army.

His draft board said Carhart twice had refused to report, saying that although he was not a pacifist, he felt this war was being fought for an unjust cause.

To interviewers, Carhart said he would submit to arrest only if he were to be charged with "treason punishable by death."

Meanwhile, the draft board announced, it had sent a delinquency report to U. S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon at Boston, who was expected to decide today what action would be taken.

Carhart told interviewers he decided to resist induction after a winter of study of the speeches of President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

He said he believed the United States was in the war because its leaders wanted it to be, and declared his belief that this country entered the European war with the passage of the lend-lease act, and the Pacific war by aiding China "with materials and the American volunteer group of fliers."

"This is a dishonest, imperialistic war," Carhart said, "and there is no assurance that if we fight to the finish the world will be any better off afterwards."

Tells Story of Grim Tug-of-War With Shark in Futile Effort to Save Man

New Orleans, April 13.—(AP)—The story of a grim tug-of-war with a shark in a futile effort to save the life of a wounded shipmate was told here today by a crewman of a large Panamanian ship torpedoed and shelled in the Caribbean on March 8.

The ship, hit once by a torpedo and raked for two hours by gunfire from the enemy submarine, was abandoned by the crew, but the seamen returned the next day and moved the ship to Mobile, Ala., under its own power. Eight of the crew of 50 were lost.

Congress Primed to Act on Labor Curbs Next Week

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, advocated today "some form of freezing" labor and employer relationship to "do away with what I call this daily agitation."

Land told the house naval committee he believed "open shop agreements, closed shop agreements, and all other agreements between labor and management should be frozen in their present status 'for the duration of the war.'"

"That, he added, would be 'the simplest, the easiest and the quickest solution that will be just to labor, to capital, and to the people of the United States.'"

He said he did not believe government agencies should seek to work out a system of incentive bonuses for war workers as has been proposed by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the naval committee.

"I believe that is a problem between labor and management," he declared. "I am wholly in favor of an incentive system." But it should be worked out by labor and management with the sole goal of increased production.

"Too Damned Much Loafing"

"There's too damned much loafing going on in the shipyards right now," Land commented.

For the commission to meet its accelerated program for production of 8,000,000 tons of shipping this year, Land said, labor and management must increase their productivity 13 per cent and to meet the program for 1943 the increase must be 25 per cent.

Advocates of restrictive labor legislation, meanwhile, served notice that only an agreement by unions to waive overtime pay for a 48-hour week in war industries would avert them from efforts to force a showdown in congress next week on the question.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) paved the way for such a showdown by inviting those of different mind to argue their case if he is successful in bringing before the senate this bill to permit the government to take over strike-bound war plants, freezing working conditions and labor relations

Score of Buildings, 50 Offices in Heart of City Destroyed

Fire Departments From Nine Towns Called to Battle Early Fire

Kewanee, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—A disastrous, four-hour fire destroyed or damaged 20 buildings and 50 offices and apartments in a two-square block area in the heart of Kewanee today.

The loss in the worst conflagration in this city's history was estimated at $1,500,000 by business leaders, but Police Chief George Nelson reported it might reach $2,000,000 when smoke and water damage was taken into consideration.

Shortly after firemen of Kewanee and nine neighboring cities brought the blaze under control, city and business leaders met amid the still smoldering embers to plan the rebuilding of the business district.

There were no known dead and only two firemen were injured.

Fireman Myron Argenbright of Toulon suffered shock and a possible knee fracture. Fireman Anthony Schindwein of Kewanee collapsed and was pulled to safety by Police Chief Nelson. Schindwein suffered severe burns on the back.

Sixty members of local units of the Illinois Reserve Militia were called out to aid firemen and police.

Muffled Explosion Heard

Several witnesses told officials they heard a muffled explosion, apparently on the first floor of the Kewanee Dry Goods store, just before the fire broke out. The store watchman, T. P. LaShone, turned in the first alarm at 1:15 a. m.

By 10 a. m. only a few tongues of flame flicked the wreckage and neighboring firemen returned home. Shook Kewanee residents said their business district looked like Coventry, England, after a blitz bombing.

Mayor Mark A. Saunders called a conference of city and business officials of the city of 17,000 to discuss immediate rebuilding.

"In view of the fact that Kewanee right now is engaged in a great deal of defense work, I feel certain this city is entitled to consideration by the priorities division and that our request will be given favorable consideration," the mayor said.

He said he was asking Governor Green and Senators Lucas and Brooks to assist in getting prompt release of priority-governed building materials.

Among the offices destroyed were those of the American Red Cross and the Kewanee Community Chest.

Last Bad Fire in 1930

The last serious fire in Kewanee was on Dec. 30, 1930, when the Baker building burned. It was damaged today.

The fire started in the three-story Kewanee Dry Goods store, the largest in this north central Illinois city. Flames, fanned by a stiff south wind, leaped to adjoining structures on the east side of Tremont street and firemen were unable to check them.

The three-story building of the Kewanee Star-Courier, a daily newspaper, and an adjoining one-story furniture company building were the only structures not destroyed in the block bounded by Chestnut and Tremont and First and second streets.

The 108-room Parkside hotel was saved, being damaged only by water.

More than 100 firemen fought the conflagration, which attracted thousands of persons, most of whom were in bed when the fire started.

The Kewanee Star-Courier's sprinkler system was put into operation after the fire was discovered, and the flames were checked.

The Kewanee Dry Goods store was located on the east side of Tremont street between First and Second streets and flamed from the burning store, east for a half block on Second street, west to Chestnut street and south on Chestnut to First street, gutting the structures. They also leaped to the west side of Tremont street and firemen were unable to check their progress on that thoroughfare.

Structures destroyed on the east side of Tremont street included two two-story office buildings, the Kewanee Dry Goods store, Union Federal & Loan Company, Hirshey's drug store, the Leader Dry Goods store, Carpy's

Justice Shaw Named to Succeed Himself at Democratic Meet

Judicial Convention Is Held in Dixon Court House Saturday

Supreme Court Justice Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport, who nine years ago was nominated for the Illinois Supreme court bench by Attorney Louis Reinhold in the Lee county Circuit court room at the district convention of Democratic candidates was re-nominated in the same room Saturday afternoon unanimously in a convention which lasted for about a half hour. Attorney William Kehoe of Amboy, chairman of the Lee county Democratic central committee, called the convention to order and Attorney John P. Devine was the unanimous choice for chairman and Attorney Albert H. Hanneken for secretary.

The committee on resolutions named by Chairman Devine consisted of J. A. Cantlin, Rock Falls; Leonard Condon, Rockford and Frank Wilson, Woodstock.

Attorney Clarence Ruddy of Aurora read the nominating address which placed before the delegation the name of Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport. Seconding addresses were given by Attorney Charles Linscott of Rockford and Attorney Reinhold.

In accepting the nomination, Judge Shaw said:

Acceptance Address

Nine years ago I stood in this court room, and accepted your kind nomination for the office of Judge of the Supreme Court of Illinois. At that time I said to you, "I can think of no monument which I would sooner leave behind me for my family, than a record of just and sound opinions, permanently bound in the imperishable records of the Supreme Court of Illinois. No man need ever ask a greater opportunity for a greater honor." That I achieved that honor is entirely due to the voluntary and unpaid support of thousands of my friends, many of whom are here today and thousands of others with whom I am not even personally acquainted. These friends have given me their trust and confidence and for my part I have tried to be worthy of it. To have been chief justice of Illinois is the highest honor that can ever come to any lawyer in this state and I am proud indeed to find that you think me worthy of re-nomination.

One of the most striking evidences of that friendship which I enjoy was the voluntary formation by some of my friends of The United Voters Club for my reelection. This club was started in a very small way by ten of my friends while I was in Springfield at the January term of court. It happened that night eight of these men were Republicans and two were Democrats and they had little idea of the size to which their organization would grow. Each of the ten talked to a few of his friends and by the time I got back to Freeport they brought to my desk an organization of two hundred members. They found the organization so easy that they sent copies of the petition into other counties, not making any effort to canvass every one and today the bonafide membership in this organization exceeds two thousand and is growing every day. The loyalty and support of friends such as these who expect no reward except good service from me is a thing above price and I think that no one who knows me will have any doubt of my appreciation, or of my sincere effort to live up to their expectations. These two thousand and more interested persons signed their names to the following statement of principles. "We declare that the office of Judge of the Supreme Court of Illinois should be kept out of party politics and free from political influence; That it is neither good government nor good sense for the State of Illinois to spend nine years and thousands of dollars to train and give experience to a Judge of the Supreme Court and then let him go without just cause; That it is the qualifications, record and past conduct of the man himself rather than his political affiliation that should determine whether or not he should be kept on the bench; That Judge Shaw has kept himself and his judicial work entirely out of politics; that he has made a good judicial record for nine years, and that at the age of 63 he should be kept in office for another term."

I know that you will agree with me that it is difficult, if not impossible, for a man to be a good politician at the same time. In my humble opinion there should be no place on the bench for a Judge who uses his high office for any political purpose whatsoever. We do not have one brand of justice for Republicans and another for Democrats. We do not consider the rights of one political leader superior to those of another and we make no distinctions between white and black, rich and poor, Catholics or Protestants. Unless a man can be elected to the Supreme Court, as I was nine years ago free to serve with these principles in mind he might better never be elected at all.

I am reminded of an occasion in my last campaign. It was 2 o'clock in the morning before the election returns fully indicated my election, and I went home to get some sleep. Sleep proved impossible and at daylight I got up, pulled on an old sweater and started out for a walk. Near my home were some vacant lots which in 1933 were given out for a community garden to poor folks who wanted to raise part of their slender living. As I walked past one of these lots I met a little Italian who knew me, but whom I did not know and even now do not know. Over his shoulder he was carrying a wheel plow which he laid down when he met me and took off his cap. He congratulated me on my election and seemed as pleased about it as though it had happened him. The event seemed trivial, but it made a profound and lasting impression on me. The thing was so utterly incongruous. Here was a man with a wheel plow working a community garden congratulating me on attaining one of the highest offices and one of the largest salaries in the state. From that day to this no poor man, no colored man, no person short of the means for paying high priced council has ever been without a friend in the Supreme Court of Illinois.

What I say for myself in this respect I can truthfully say for every member of our court, both Republicans and Democrats. In the past nine years I have taken part in at least sixteen thousand roll calls on opinions, leaves to appeal, motions, etc. Never in those sixteen thousand votes have I seen our court divided along political lines or for any political reasons. Each member of the court, and I have served with eleven of them has regarded himself as a high priest of the law with the bar of justice as his altar. Those who seek to change this position of the judges are not serving the interests of the people of Illinois, but only some selfish desire of their own.

Through many years I have noticed the tendency on the part of office holders who seek reelection, to insist that the voters or the taxpayers are in some manner indebted to them and actually owe them the reelection which they seek. It is frequently said, "One good term deserves another," and, "I have worked long and hard for the taxpayers."

To me these statements appear silly. What of it if I have worked hard and long for the taxpayers? I asked for the job and I have done nothing more than fulfilled my contract. On the other hand, haven't the taxpayers worked long and hard for me? They have paid me a very fine salary and paid it without any complaint, or claim to glory on their part. For my part I have tried my best to perform my part of the agreement and if you believe the kind words of those who have spoken before me, I have done fairly well, but even this does not discharge the duty which I owe to the people of Illinois.

That duty which I owe cannot fully be measured by the salary which I have received, because in addition to that salary I have received other benefits which cannot be measured by money. My one great interest in life—the thing which has given me the greatest possible satisfaction—is the study of law, the science of human relationships. These people of Illinois, these friends of mine, have given me the opportunity to study and pass upon more than ten thousand law suits in the last nine years. That is more cases than most lawyers see in a whole busy lifetime, and it has given me a great pleasure and satisfaction. As a carpenter loves his tools, as a surgeon loves his books and instruments, so it is with me. I love a set of briefs and a stack of law books and no one can do better work or be happier than when he is doing work that he likes to do. There is no satisfaction like that which comes from work well done.

Measuring it all as I look back on the last nine years, I find that I am deeply indebted to the people of Illinois. These people have given me a fine education and have paid me for receiving it. This education has become mine and there is no way that it can be taken from me, nor is there any way I can give it back or pass it on to another. Equitably this education belongs to the people of Illinois and they are entitled to use or discard it as they see fit. These friends of mine, the people of Illinois, of all parties, races, religions and creeds have spent nine years time and considerably more than a hundred thousand dollars giving me this education, which climaxes thirty-five years study of the law. All that I can do is humbly to offer this experience for further service, if such further service be desired of me.

In closing let me suggest two more matters. First, it would seem obvious even to a person of dim wit that I would not be a candidate for reelection in this strongly Republican district if I was conscious of any wrong doing whatsoever. Nine years ago I was offering myself to you on promises. Today I am offering only my past record, character and reputation. Secondly, permit me mildly to suggest that we may all of us be taking ourselves too seriously. The temper of the people is not and should not be tuned to partisan politics at this time. It cannot make a great deal of difference in the history of human events who is elected to the Supreme Court of Illinois on June first. Let first things come first and the first thing above all others is our unification for winning the war. At a time when our boys are being killed in fox holes or drowned among sharks, what happens to me is totally insignificant. I have been a very fortunate and successful person, but I would be glad to give all of it, including the great honors which I have received to bring just one of those boys back.

For each automobile we are not making this year we have saved enough tin to coat 1,000 cans in which we put food for our soldiers and sailors.

25 Per Cent of Air Transports Taken by War Department

Needed for Military as Nation's War Efforts Are Expanded

(AP)—The war department announced Saturday that the army forces would take over 25 per cent of the domestic commercial air lines and use them for carrying military cargoes and personnel.

They will be operated under direction of the commanding general of the air service command, the department said, and added: "Key air line personnel will be encouraged to stay at their posts as the most effective and patriotic course unless and until their country indicates it requires them in the armed forces."

340 Transports in Service

Latest statistics credit the commercial air lines with about 340 transports. Twenty-five per cent of this number would be 85.

Since the war began the army has received at least 30 air liners from operating companies. On Jan. 26 it announced that Transcontinental and Western Air had turned over its fleet of five strato-liners—ships equipped for operation at very high altitudes. A month later the department said that 25 transports, urgently needed for military service, were made available by commercial companies.

Service Cut to Minimum

In its announcement today the army said that the additional air liners it is securing would be used for carrying military supplies and personnel "only to such points and at such times as may be necessitated by military requirements."

The department added that with the 25 per cent allocation announced, domestic air line service has been reduced to the minimum deemed essential to the war effort and "it is not presently intended to make further reductions" in the civil air line equipment.

"Civil air transportation," the announcement said, "is of vital importance to the war effort. Disruption in essential air line service is to be avoided whenever possible. However, air line service to the public cannot exceed that quantity which is essential to the successful prosecution of the war."

It was emphasized that the army's action represented an acceptance of the "offer of the air lines of the United States to participate in the war effort."

The decision to accept the planes, the department said, was "based upon a survey of the civil air transport system and the nation's present air transport requirements. With the airplanes which they will reserve for civil operation, the survey indicated, the domestic air lines will be able to provide a common carrier service essential to the war effort."

A priorities system for seat and cargo space in commercial airplanes already is in operation. Personnel of the White House and the armed services have first ratings, with priorities also given to personnel of other government agencies "whose activities are essential to the war effort."

Dixon Council of Christian School Education Planned

The Dixon Council of Christian Education will be formally organized this evening when representatives from Dixon churches in the Guild room of St. Luke's church at 7 o'clock. Among the items of business will be the adoption of a provisional constitution, the election of officers, and the making of plans for the establishment of week day religious education in Dixon in accordance with the state law which permits the school board to release pupils for religious instruction.

Some of the questions asked about this plan are as follows:

Question: What is it?

Answer: The training of school children in the fundamentals of the Christian Faith. Children will be released for one hour each week to receive Christian instruction. Classes will be held in the public school buildings.

Question: What grades will be taught?

Answer: It is proposed to start with grades 4, 5, and 6.

Question: Would it be compulsory?

Answer: No! Only those children whose parents or guardians have given written consent will be permitted to attend the classes.

Question: Who will do the teaching?

Answer: A full-time certified instructor agreed upon by the churches.

Question: Has the Board of Education approved this plan?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Have the clergy approved the program?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Have the Churches approved the idea?

Answer: At a meeting last Monday night, attended by pastors and representatives it was given unanimous approval.

Question: Who will be in charge of this Week Day Christian Education?

Answer: The program will be administered by the Dixon Council of Christian Education, consisting of the pastor and four lay representatives from each church, the president of the Board of Education, the Superintendent of Schools and the chairman of the Curriculum Committee of the Board of Education. The instructor will be hired by and under the control of the Dixon Council of Christian Education.

Question: How is this program to be financed?

Answer: Funds will be raised by popular subscription throughout the community. There will be no assessments levied on the individual churches. The campaign will be conducted by teams of solicitors selected from the various churches.

Question: What will be the cost of this program?

Answer: Approximately $2,500 at the present enrollment.

Question: When will the campaign begin?

Answer: It is hoped to begin the community-wide solicitation the second week in May.

Question: What can I do to help?

Answer: Acquaint others with the plan and support it financially to the best of your ability.

Question: What will this do to the Three R's?

Answer: It will add the fourth "R", which has always belonged to the other three. We shall now have: Readin', Ritin', Rithmetic, AND Religion!

Defense officials have said that in 1942 from the estimated 30 million tons of scrap needed for the war machine, twelve and one half millions must come from junked autos, tractors and obsolete machinery. So old jalopies turned into scrap are an important part of this year's defense steel requirements.

Miss Maxine McGinnis Is Bride of Robert Schaller

The bride's period style wedding gown of white slipper satin was copied in baby blue nylon chiffon for her maid of honor and in pale yellow for her two bridesmaids, when Miss Maxine E. McGinnis, repeated bridal vows Sunday afternoon with Robert Ray Schaller, a junior engineer in a defense plant at Des Moines. Dr. Floyd L. Blewfield read the single ring ceremony at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist church which united the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McGinnis of 210 Crawford avenue, and the only son of the H. F. Schallers of Des Moines.

Tall cathedral candles in white candelabra and baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar before which the bridal party stood. Miss Naomi Woll, organist at St. Luke's Episcopal church, was at the organ for the nuptial prelude and the processional and recessional.

Maxine's wedding dress had a high neckline, edged with lace, a shirred bodice with long sleeves that were full at the shoulder and pointed at the wrists, and a full skirt extending into a long train. On her dark hair was a high tiara of seed pearls, from which fell her fingertip veil of tulle. Her flowers were white sweet peas, roses, and gardenias in a cascade arrangement, with sweet pea florets knotted in the white satin ribbons.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls that belonged to Mr. Schaller's grandmother and were his gift to his bride. Mr. McGinnis gave his daughter in marriage.

Maxine's maid of honor, Miss Olga Eneroth of Minneapolis, a Dixon high school faculty member, carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses with her blue gown, and bridesmaids, the Misses Vivian Stiles and Helene Krug, harmonized with the yellow tone of their dresses. Tiaras, matching their gowns, were worn by all three attendants. Miss Eneroth's pearl necklace, and the silver crosses worn by the bridesmaids were their gifts from the bride.

Theodore Beard came from Des Moines to be Mr. Schaller's best man, and head usher was the bride's brother, Ensign W. L. McGinnis, who flew from Washington, D. C. on Saturday to attend his sister's wedding. Assisting Ensign McGinnis, who was in uniform, was Lyle Myers of this city.

Mrs. McGinnis chose an all-navy blue ensemble for her daughter's wedding, and her flowers were gardenias and yellow roses. Mrs. Schaller, the bridegroom's mother, selected navy accessories for her beige redingote, and at her shoulder was a corsage of blue iris.

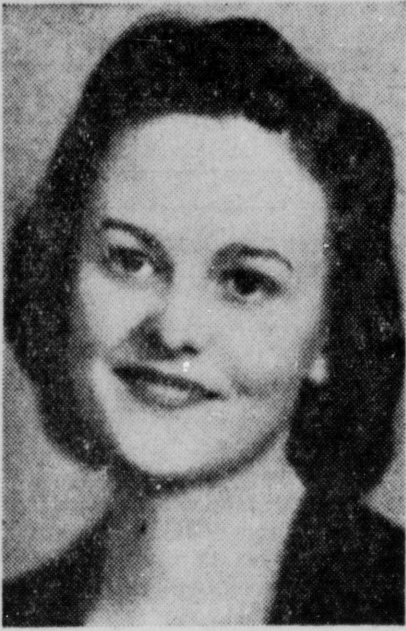

Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis gave their daughter's wedding reception at their home, where about 100 relatives and friends from Illinois and Iowa called to wish the couple happiness. The bridesmaids and Miss Eneroth alternated at the serving table. Ivory tapers in crystal holders were lighted and placed at either side of the all-white wedding cake.

When Mr. Schaller and his bride left later on a brief wedding trip, the new Mrs. Schaller was wearing a brown gabardine suit with brown accessories, accented by a corsage of gardenias and red roses. After May 1, the couple will be at home in the new bungalow they have purchased at 2420 33rd avenue, Des Moines.

Yesterday's bride was graduated from Dixon high school, and later attended the University of Iowa for two years. For the past three years, she has been employed in the offices of the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

Mr. Schaller was graduated from the Missouri Military academy at Mexico, Mo., and from Iowa State college at Ames, his

P-T. A. Names New Officers

Members of the Stony Point Parent-Teacher association elected officers at their monthly meeting Friday evening at the school. Those named were:

President, Mrs. Charles Lawson; vice president, Mrs. Roy Munselle; secretary, Mrs. George Healy; treasurer, Mrs. John Stanley. Retiring officers include: President, Mrs. Ray Munselle; vice president, Mrs. Charles Lawson; secretary, Mrs. Norman McClannahan; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Hink.

The association voted to purchase a portable electric victrola for the school.

L. W. Miller, former county superintendent of schools, was guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Miller, who has often visited the school and spoken there, discussed vital points to be considered in the discipline of children, maintaining that "parents must discipline themselves first." "There are no 'bad boys and girls,' even though they may sometimes commit an act that is bad," Mr. Miller declared.

Before punishment is meted or judgment passed, Mr. Miller believes, the parent or teacher should weigh the child's act, with three questions in mind: "Is it human?" "Is it just?" "Is it fair?" The speaker's advice to children, as well as adults, is: "Do the best you can, within reason, under the conditions that confront you."

Miss Charlotte Emmert entertained with two piano solos, and other numbers included music, primary rhythm band, directed by Mrs. Coral Lambert; solo, "Stars and Stripes Forever," Robert Magana; solo, "Remember Pearl Harbor," Nancy Lee Healy; group singing, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" and "God Bless America," with Mrs. Lambert at the piano.

Mrs. Donald Bay, Mrs. Edward Stanley, and Mrs. Norman McClannahan composed the program committee. Refreshments were served, following the entertainment.

EDITH STEWART VAN BUREN SHARES VIEWS ON READING NEWS WITH DIXON WOMEN

"One of the best ways to gain knowledge of the conditions of our world today is by an intelligent, careful reading of the news"—that was the opening thought presented by Mrs. Edith Stewart Van Buren of Chicago, president of the Friends of American Writers, who addressed 120 women at the annual Spring Guest Day meeting of the Dixon Woman's club Saturday afternoon at the Loveland Community House.

"The Art of Reading the News" was the subject chosen by the speaker, whose timely lecture included the history of press services, comment concerning famous reporters and commentators, and the question of propaganda. "Only by practice and study can we acquire this art," Mrs. Van Buren believes, and she warned that as world conditions become worse, one must right himself lest he become confused. "Reading the news with free, open minds will help us form opinions which are important to our community, if carefully expressed and based on actual knowledge," she contends.

"Before the war, we took sides as interventionists and non-interventionists," Mrs. Van Buren told her listeners. "Now that is changed. We all have but one thought and goal—that of retaining our freedom. Let us remember that an opinion is easily to come by and knowledge is difficult to obtain; and bear this in mind before we allow ourselves to become upset and confused by what we read."

The speaker pointed out that taxes, priorities, and other provisions daily affect one's life. "And though this is a sad time, it is an important time—a golden opportunity for women: the task of reestablishing civilization is theirs," the clubwomen were told.

A survey, Mrs. Van Buren stated, shows that only 32 per cent of people who buy newspapers read the editorials. "This is a fatal mistake," she believes, "as wrong or reading the paper from 'cover to cover'." She advised her listeners that the Associated Press news means news that is carefully checked for accuracy.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT

In keeping with Pan American Day tomorrow, Miss Esther Barton's room of the Lincoln school has arranged a special display of art work from Pan American schools, which will be on view all week in the school's exhibit case. Articles brought back by Miss Barton and Miss Anna Geisenheimer from their travels abroad, as well as a collection of 30 sketches in oil, water colors and crayons, received this morning from the Pan American Union in Washington, D. C., are included in the show. Several of the prints, the work of Pan American school children, are illustrated in the current issue of the School Arts Magazine.

Ensign Weyrauch of Oregon Weds in Portland, Me.

Chaplain F. L. Albert read the nuptial service last Thursday afternoon at Williston Congregational church in Portland, Me., in which Miss Anne Burroughs Beebe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Beebe of Stillman Valley, became the bride of Ensign Herbert E. Weyrauch, U. S. N., son of the E. M. Weyrauchs of Oregon. Altar vases of white snapdragons and Easter lilies, with white tapers furnishing illumination, decorated the church for the 6:45 o'clock ceremony.

Miss Carolyn Beebe played the nuptial music for her sister's wedding, choosing for her selections, "Because," "Ich Liebe Dich" and "O Promise me."

The bride's wedding gown was fashioned of white chiffon with lace panels. A tiara of pearls held her fingertip veil of French illusion, and her flowers were gardenias and orchids. Her brooch and the handkerchief she wore had been used by four generations of brides in her mother's family. The prayer book from which Chaplain Albert read was used at the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Beebe.

Miss Carolyn Beebe, as her sister's maid of honor, wore blue chiffon, and carried American Beauty roses. Ensign William Lemos of New York was best man.

A wedding dinner for 12 guests was served at the Cumberland club in Portland. Bowls containing white narcissus, iris and sweet peas decorated the table. The couple will reside in Portland. Mrs. Weyrauch attended the University of Illinois for two years, following her graduation from Stillman Valley high school, and for the past two years, she has been a student nurse at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago. Alpha Gamma Delta is her sorority.

If You Earn $25
a Week
You Are Worth
$25,000

Five per cent per year on $25,000 is $1,250—so if you earn $25 a week you are worth, as an income producer, fully $25,000 of anybody's money. But if there was need, would your present protection provide $25 a week for your family, or your dependents? Write, phone or ask about the Equitable's Income Plan.

A Thought for Today

A soft answer turneth away wrath;
but grievous words stir up anger.—Prov-verbs 15:1.

'Tis a word that's quickly spoken,
which being restrained, a heart is broken.
—Beaumont and Fletcher.

Goodby to Passivity

There is no general agreement with the new name, War Bonds, which has been given to the government's promises to repay billions of dollars borrowed to finance the defense of Democracy. Some preferred the World War I title, Liberty Bonds. Others argued for reviving Victory Bond as a cognomen.

But the bitterest enders are glad that at last we have discarded the misnomer, Defense Bonds, a term which fifth columnist was doing more damage than a dozen Fritz Kuhns.

Technically, perhaps, and very fundamentally, we really are fighting a defensive war. That is, we aren't an aggressor nation. We aren't trying to seize by force another people's territory or trade. We aren't attempting to force our ideology, our form of government, our system of economics upon the rest of the world. We are merely refusing to permit Germany, Italy and Japan to nazify the world, including us, by force.

We are defending Democracy, but we know now that we can not preserve human rights by defensive methods. Having been forced to fight for what we treasure, we intend to take the offensive and to pursue it to the complete destruction of axis aggression.

It was high time that we got rid of the stultifying passivity suggested by "defense." It expresses too well the spirit of letting the other fellow set the pace, pick his spot, name the game and make the rules. Wars are not won in that way.

Late, but not too late, the pacific American people have begun to adopt a belligerent attitude toward this war. The new name for the government's bonds is a concrete expression of that new spirit.

War Bonds. That means Fight.

We are not yet in position to make Germany, Japan and Italy suffer at home what our allies in Europe and Asia have been forced to endure. We do not yet have the material with which to undertake those ventures, nor as yet have we been able to move what we do have to places where it is most needed.

But almost every day sees another bottleneck broken through, and the machinery of production and transport speeded up. Even in the news of disaster there are bright spots. The toll we take of raiding Japs and Nazis proves our counter blows gradually become more frequent, more daring and more effective.

We aren't on Easy Street yet. We haven't even turned the corner. But we shall turn it the day that, by sweat and tears, we reach that point at which we can attack enemy-held territory for keeps. And the discarding of the passive name "Defense Bonds" is a real step in the right direction.

Even If We Lose the War?

President Roosevelt and Donald Nelson, war production chief, are at odds on the question of whether workers in war industries should be spurred to greater efforts by a plan whereby bonuses would be awarded to those who do more work than the standards set by the union.

Roosevelt seems to be trying to preserve some sort of imaginary social gain.

Nelson is trying to boost the output of munitions for the benefit of those who may soon be locked in a gigantic struggle in Europe, Australia or Asia.

It was impossible to get anything to the soldiers on Bataan. It is not too late to do something for the means.

Meanwhile, William L. Batt says the nation is at the moment in a "bitter, losing fight."

Also it is evident that the people who produce arms and ammunition for soldiers of the axis are not limited by labor union restrictions as to output. They are limited only by the strength of their bodies.

It is unfair to put American soldiers against soldiers who may have greater resources of munitions. It is an injustice to oppose bonuses for greater production when human lives and perhaps victory itself may be at stake.

There may be two ways of looking at it, but a social gain which denies a man a proper reward for harder work is only a very doubtful benefit to the man who is supposed to be benefited thereby.

The United States was not built on the theory that one man must not work harder than another. Rewards have gone to the energetic, and the laggards have been permitted to lag.

The same may be true of nations. If Roosevelt's theory were applied to the army, no man could be given a medal for extraordinary devotion to duty.

If the C. I. O. policy were followed in the army, a man who fought harder than the average would be disciplined for conduct unbecoming a soldier.

Those 7,500 Miles

Broadly speaking, it is good news that the average automobile tire on a civilian automobile is good for another 7,500 miles. It will not, however, prove notably helpful to the individuals whose tread is smooth, or the others whose fabric is peeling through, or the few who literally are running on the rims.

Moreover—and this is the meat in the coconut—the estimated average won't help those optimists who intend to drive as usual, convinced that God will provide when their casings or inner tubes collapse. You can take the appropriations for synthetic production, the experiments with guayule and the stories about available South American wild rubber, put them all into a cement box, and sink them in the deepest available water, so far as normal civilian tire supplies are concerned. This is bitter war. And if you have that 7,500-mile average of use left in your tires, you'd better husband it as you do your virtue.

With their localized winter onslaught, the Reds have captured substantial quantities of tanks and trucks. At Rostov where the nazis got out fast, much food and equipment was obtained.

But the equipment they have been able to capture would make a substantial quantity of the testing amount the nazis have lost through depreciation. You cannot run tanks, guns, and trucks around for a year on Russian roads under hard usage without expecting about 100 per cent replacement.

Adding up these facts will lead you to an expectation that the Reds may be kicked around a lot this spring and summer. They should be able to survive. They may not fold.

The fight should be long, slow and hard. But Hitler stands an excellent chance to hammer back across Rostov into the Caucasus oil fields and cut off the Russian oil supply, which would be a calamity.

If Russia folds this year, or her army is chased back to the Urals, the European war is by no means over. England should be able to survive invasion with her existing armament, even without the aid of continued Russian opposition.

Worse symptoms for us can be detected in the concentration of Hitler's energies against Malta and in Libya. Malta has passed her 200th birthday. If it falls, most of the Mediterranean will be closed to the British. Cyprus is open to Parachute attack, and if it goes, Turkey will be surrounded.

General Rommel in Libya has been heavily reinforced and has about six weeks left in which to reach for the great British naval base at Alexandria, key to the British position in the Near East. Heat thereafter should help to protect the defending lines.

This movement, jointly operating with a nazi drive in southern Russia, (expected at any time now) is designed to pinch out the entire Near East and approach Iran and Iraq.

Obviously then the prospects for our side in the Afro-European sphere of war are not—as we would like to have them.

General Marshall's presence in London, along with Harry Hopkins, is obviously intended to bolster Russian morale with action. The British have a vague pooling system for distribution of their arms and munitions. Our officials wanted to get the pooling on a basis which could be understood.

The trip was clearly a recognition of the main point now, which too few people in this country fully appreciate, namely: The future course of this war will be determined this spring and summer on the Russian front.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, April 12—Daily localized successes of the Russians during the winter may have blinded us to the reality of their critical spring condition.

The unwelcome truth is they have not captured much that the Germans tried desperately to hold. An assessment of the winter fighting, now nearing an end, shows they saved Moscow and won Kalinin, Rostov and the Volga hills, but they were not able fully to relieve Leningrad.

While they have frequently been reported marching into the outskirts of Kharkov, they have not won the city. They thought they had 150,000 nazis trapped at Mzhaisk and 100,000 more at Staraya Russa, but they claimed no such captures in the end.

It would be well for us to face the fact that, at the end of an advantageous period for Russian fighting, most of the key positions are still in nazi hands. The Reds have regained only about 15 per cent of the territory they had lost.

To start off the spring, about 40 per cent of Russian industry is in German hands. Our shipments to their fighting front have been substantial, but cannot replace this loss.

Strangely, their plane production, in a year, which is a very encouraging factor, though all other production is down.

The nazis, however are not in such a good productive position as you would surmise from their vast industrial seizures in France, the lowlands and south-eastern Europe. Hitler passed his peak in both manpower and materials a year ago.

German plane production has not increased in the past 12 months. (Incidentally our production is yet nowhere near its peak, in fact, is just beginning to rise.)

Greatest Russian victory is one which could not be estimated in communiques—the wear and tear on nazi equipment from a year of fighting.

With their localized winter onslaught, the Reds have captured substantial quantities of tanks and trucks. At Rostov where the nazis got out fast, much food and equipment was obtained.

But the equipment they have been able to capture would make a substantial quantity of the testing amount the nazis have lost through depreciation. You cannot run tanks, guns, and trucks around for a year on Russian roads under hard usage without expecting about 100 per cent replacement.

Failure of Cripps in India Poses Hard Nut for Axis Foes

Freedom Plan Spurned, Sir Stafford Blasts Hindu Leaders

London, April 13—(AP)—The failure of the Cripps mission creates a jagged pattern unprecedented in military history for the united nations, but the allied leadership on land and sea doggedly is improvising a defense against the Japanese who already are menacing the shores of Bengal Bay and beating through Burma on the highway to the prize of empire.

In the three weeks of futile negotiations little or nothing was accomplished toward making an overall defense effort though even in failure to settle the complicated India question the Indian and British leaders were agreed that Japanese aggression must be stopped—somehow.

One report from New Delhi said Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, of the All-India Congress party, was preparing a personal campaign to arouse India to give her best effort against the Japanese, and Indian leaders generally were expected to join the British administration in recruiting the last ounce of effort on war production as a result of Sir Stafford's mission.

Cripps Still Popular

Die-hard optimists pointed out that although Cripps' mission failed, the Indian feeling was that he had been hamstrung in the negotiations by the war cabinet here in London and that his popularity in India had not diminished.

His parting shot—that he might return to India in what capacity "the Lord only knows"—was viewed optimistically by some who speculated that he might even be named viceroy to give his popularity full play.

Beyond the now moribund political aspects, however, the British have hopes as always in Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, commander for India.

Must Halt Foe in Burma

The British task generally is that of stopping the Japanese on the land approaches from Burma and of preventing safe passage across the Bay of Bengal.

To face the veteran assault troops who have been getting unequalled experiences across the width of the southwest Pacific, Wavell has a comparatively small number of imperial troops plus a slightly larger contingent of Indian soldiers—mainly Moslems and proven fighting men.

Added to these are the bomber-fighter squadrons of the United States operating in southern India and the American volunteer group units which already have made a substantial contribution to the resistance in Burma.

New Delhi, India, April 13—(AP)—The mission of Sir Stafford Cripps came to naught in an atmosphere of gloom yesterday with a rejection by the All-India

Congress party and the Moslem league of the British proposals for Indian dominion.

"With the enemy at the gates," Sir Stafford announced, his proposals had run afoul of a "spate of criticism" and a "critical and unconstructive attitude."

Neither the Congress party in which the country's 240,000,000 Hindus are dominant, nor the Moslem league, which widely represents the 77,000,000 Moslems, the two powerful but widely separated parties, found the proposals acceptable.

Plan for Rule Wrecks Parley

It was on the issue of formation of an interim government pending settlement of India's constitutional problems after the war that negotiations were wrecked. Involved were defense powers which such a government would wield.

Congress party leaders insisted upon a national government functioning with full powers as a cabinet, and said the British plan bore too much resemblance to the present executive council of the viceroy.

Cripps said a nominated cabinet, as proposed by the Congress party, would be responsible to "no one but itself, could not be removed, and would in fact constitute an absolute dictatorship" by the Hindu majority.

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the Congress party, in a letter to Cripps, explaining that "we are agreeable to postponing the entire issue so that the largest possible measure of unity might be achieved in the present crisis for India's defense."

But Sir Stafford, possibly hinting at Hindu fear of accepting responsibility in this crisis, said the Congress party's refusal of a compromise proposal on direction of defense meant that Azad believed he could not rally the Indian people.

Cripps announced that "the discussions are over" just three weeks after his arrival. He said there was no likelihood of another attempt to settle the Indian problem in the near future.

Only slight hope was seen in his added remark, "I may come back to India in what capacity that will be the Lord only knows." (London unofficial quarters guessers that he might return as viceroy or as minister of state.)

Allies to Continue Defense

Turning to the threat to India, Cripps said Britain would do her utmost to defend the country, that "America is doing all she can," and "now India must devote herself wholeheartedly with special effort in every field of activity in defending her soil and protecting her women and children from those ghastly horrors that have befallen her Chinese friends and neighbors."

"We may differ as to methods by which freedom can best be reached, but upon one thing surely we must all be agreed—that it cannot be reached by conquest of India by a power such as Japan," he added in a later, farewell broadcast.

The British proposals were for postwar dominion status with right of withdrawal from the British empire, the right of Moslem states to abstain from the Indian union, and even form a union of their own, and the right of representation for the Indian princes in the constitution-making body.

Defense at present was to be directed by the British.

Sees Menace to Freedom

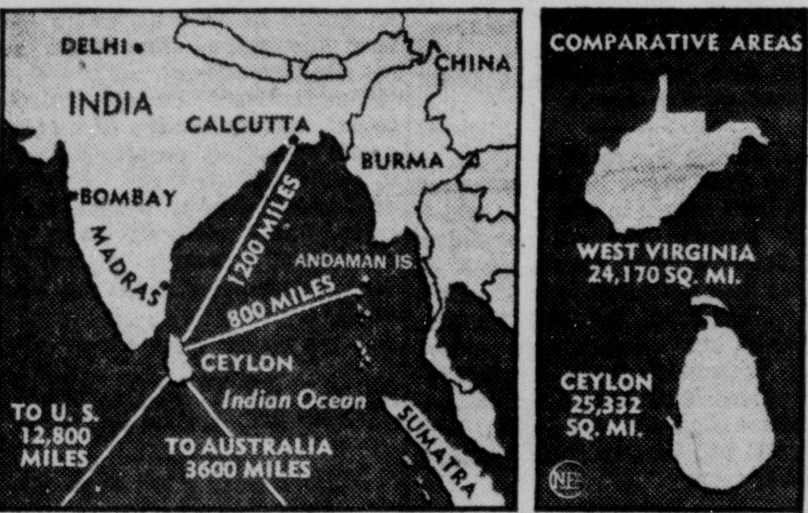

The Congress party, in a 1,500 word statement rejected the proposal on the grounds that recognition of the Indian states would form "enclaves where foreign authority still prevails" and where foreign armed forces could be maintained. Such a situation, it said, would be a "perpetual menace" to Indian freedom. It also objected to the right of non-accession of the Moslem states as a blow at Indian unity and as an "apple of discord."

Further, it charged, that retention by the British of the responsibility for defense reduced proposed Indian self-government to "a farce and nullity" in war-time when defense "covers almost every sphere of life and administration."

In conclusion, it declared that the present government was "lacking in competence" to undertake defense and "it is only the people of India, through their popular representatives who may shoulder this burden worthily." Only "the realization of present freedom could light the flame" of Indian defense, the statement said.

On the other hand, the Moslem league, while expressing gratifica-

Five Meet Death, 35 Hurt in Train Wreck Saturday

Savage, Minn., April 12—(AP)—The crash of an Omaha railroad flyer into the rear of a local passenger train Saturday caused five deaths and the injury of at least 35 others, 15 of them severely.

Omaha train No. 210, known as the Mondamin, bound from Sioux City, Ia., to the Twin Cities, had stopped just west of the Savage station after striking an automobile on a grade crossing. The train was due here at 6:40 a. m.

Signal Attempt Fails

A flagman of the stalled train ran down the track and set torpedo signals to warn the Nightingale flyer, bound to the Twin Cities from Omaha, and about 15 minutes behind the local.

The flagman said he set out the torpedoes and stationed himself farther down the track to wave down the flyer, but the train roared past.

The flyer engine plowed into a baggage coach at the rear of the stalled train. Force of the collision jammed the first passenger car of the Nightingale into a baggage car ahead. The dead and most of the injured were riding in the flyer's first passenger coach.

Dead and Injured Listed

The identified dead were: Oscar Ogren, about 45 years old, of Minneapolis, brakeman on the Nightingale; Oscar J. Schneider, 45, Worthington, Minn.; H. L. Klepper, Clearbrook, Minn.; and E. H. Ayers, 61, St. Paul, flyer candy butcher.

The injured included: Mrs. James Rachulis, 50, Missouri Valley, Ia.; Kathleen Eals, Sioux City, Ia.; Mrs. John Bullion, Fairchild, Minn.

tion that Pakistan, the right of Moslem autonomy, had been recognized, complained that the proposals did not go far enough and that a Moslem majority or large minority in the provinces would be dominated by Hindu assemblies.

Wis.; C. Benning and wife, Mason, Wis., and Claude Black, 38, Sioux City, Ia.

Debris of the two trains was cleared by 1:15 p. m. and normal traffic resumed after wreckers used acetylene torches and cranes to pry apart the telescoped cars.

Speed Limit of Forty Miles Set For Canada

Ottawa, Ont., April 13—Forty miles an hour was set as top speed for all motorists throughout Canada in an order signed by the deputy governor general. The order, designed to save rubber and gasoline, will become effective May 1. Motorists who exceed the speed limit will be subject to a fine of from $15 to $50 or to not more than 10 days' imprisonment for the first offense.

BABY DROWNS IN CREEK

Valparaiso, Ind., April 13—(AP)—Two-year-old Mary Charlene German of Chicago drowned late yesterday after falling into Sale creek, southwest of here.

The child had come here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester German, to attend a farewell party for Harold Trapp, brother of Mrs. German, who is scheduled to leave tomorrow for military service.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

Centralia, Ill., April 13—(AP)—Alfred Raham, 58, Salem, died in a Centralia hospital yesterday from injuries received a short time earlier when he was hit by an automobile on route 37.

Commutation of Jordan Sentence Will Be Opposed

State's Attorney L. L. Winn of Whiteside county will go to Springfield Wednesday to oppose commutation of the death sentence imposed on Leo Jordan for the murder of 5-year-old Warren Snyder of Fulton.

Jordan, sentenced to die in the Joliet prison electric chair on May 13, is one of 50 prisoners whose pleas for executive clemency will be heard next week by the state pardon board. Jordan has petitioned Gov. Dwight Green to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment.

State's Attorney Winn said he would attend the hearing to "uphold the purpose of the court." The prosecutor said he probably would be accompanied to Springfield by a representative from the sheriff's office at Springfield and possibly by Earl Snyder, father of the slayer's victim.

Jordan, 23, a former convict and Clinton, Ia., factory worker, originally was sentenced to die on March 14, but a stay of execution was granted to Attorneys Lloyd Brown and Kennard Besse by Circuit Judge A. J. Sheineman so they could appeal the sentence.

Jordan was sentenced to death on Jan. 16 after he pleaded guilty in Whiteside county Circuit court to murdering the Snyder youngster. In his confession of the crime, which occurred Nov. 3, Jordan said he lured the child away from a Fulton school yard, made an indecent proposal and slashed the boy's throat with a razor to prevent him from making an outcry.

OVER 14,000 AT ARSENAL

Rock Island, Ill., April 13—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Norman F. Ramsey announced that the payroll at the Rock Island arsenal was 13,296, bettering the last year's peak of 12,263 civil service employees. He said that an additional 600 construction workers, 45 officers, 100 military police and several hundred WPA and NYA workers placed the total number at the arsenal at more than 14,000.

Story of Illinois University's Part in War Thrilling

In order not to give aid to the enemy, let's call this Illinois staffman Professor A. He gets a long-distance telephone call one afternoon from a Mr. B who is head of a manufacturing plant somewhere in the midwest. The government wants this plant, and others, to make a very vital product directly connected with war. But Mr. B can't get his formula to work.

Professor A feels that if tires were ever put to good use, this is the time, and sets out at once to drive to B's plant. He hears the problem, sets up some home-made equipment so he can run tests. He has his notebook of equations and he applies them to a problem totally new to him. There are more tests and there's more figuring. And then more tests. Professor A says that's the way it should be done—and breathes a little prayer.

Very shortly the product (we'll call it C) is under production again. A waiting plane takes samples to an assembly plant. A few days later tests are made. Product C comes through—not only comes through but is so much better than expected that high officials are much pleased.

What worked in one plant works also in a string of others, of course. By the quickest possible transportation, Product C is taken across thousands of miles to a place where it is put to very direct use against the enemy.

That's the outline of a very exciting story. No part of it can be written, or even hinted at. We wouldn't print it under any circumstances and you wouldn't want us to.

There's another story, that is much like the first. It has to do with the design for a new type of tank, being made in a factory the location of which we won't mention. The result will be revolutionary.

A third, especially interesting in every detail because it grows out of close cooperation between the College of Medicine, Chicago, and the College of Engineering, Urbana, has to do with conditions of high-altitude flying and dive bombing. It even brings in the College of Pharmacy, since the effect of drugs depends much on atmosphere.

There isn't anything academic about the work the College of Engineering is doing for the government. Nor that of the Colleges of Agriculture, Medicine, Pharmacy, Dentistry, and others. Almost every department is busy on fundamental war projects. We hardly dare mention chemistry; its professors are devoting time to vital victory research. In some cases, a man at one end of the hall won't know what his colleague at the other is doing. It's a military secret. They might even be doing research on the same thing, so far as they know. They don't tell.

The destroying angel mushroom is dangerous even to the touch.

SPRING HOUSECLEANING . . . basketball is over, hockey is finishing with the Stanley Cup Series, and bowling is just about completed . . . tomorrow the king of sports officially gets its seasonable send-off, baseball, and with it comes many other interesting items which we'll attempt to cover . . . tennis, golf, track, fishing, trail rides, swimming, boating, cycling, and the partially indoor sport, the ponies . . . and above all things fans don't forget many of our top-ranking rooters are going to spend part of their out-of-door moments with their V-gardens . . .

BANQUET BULLETIN . . . the time is growing shorter and as usual it just can't happen any other way and our sentiments of sorrow go out to Georgie Horton, Herbie Cooper and the rest of those North Side rootin' tootin' rooters . . . for they just don't have a chance when meeting the Pale Hose . . . the Cub fans' feelings of exuberance were quickly stifled yesterday when the Sox turned the tide of events following the Cubs' seven innings of advantage and went on a victory excursion rally which allowed them to romp home with a 4 to 3 victory . . . from now until the next series in the fall the age-old argument will be cropping up from time to time and if the hidden potentialities of the Sox come to light the Yanks might take a surprised and unique seating in the back row which wouldn't permit a City Series unless the Cubs can pull the miracle of miracles and finish on the top plateau . . .

HABIT . . . and as usual it just can't happen any other way and our sentiments of sorrow go out to Georgie Horton, Herbie Cooper and the rest of those North Side rootin' tootin' rooters . . . for they just don't have a chance when meeting the Pale Hose . . . the Cub fans' feelings of exuberance were quickly stifled yesterday when the Sox turned the tide of events following the Cubs' seven innings of advantage and went on a victory excursion rally which allowed them to romp home with a 4 to 3 victory . . . from now until the next series in the fall the age-old argument will be cropping up from time to time and if the hidden potentialities of the Sox come to light the Yanks might take a surprised and unique seating in the back row which wouldn't permit a City Series unless the Cubs can pull the miracle of miracles and finish on the top plateau . . .

SHARPENING THE EYE . . . the big classic of the year with all its feudin' qualities and trimmings is just about set to get underway . . . namely, the grudge bowling match between the City Hall (challengers) and the County Court House Gang . . . we noted yesterday that Mayor William Slothower was getting in some pre-match warming-up at the Recreation Alleys and he was displaying a mighty stout arm combined with an accurate eye . . . so beware you Court House kiegiers . . .

SATURDAY'S STRIKES . . . now that the High School bowling league is completed the Dixon Recreation alleys are slightly barren of the junior keggers on Saturday afternoons . . . nevertheless some of the up and comin' bowlers just can't get it out of their systems and eight of them were on hand, as usual, last Saturday . . . so they rolled-off a few single series to while away the time . . . Gardner collected the high series count with a 567 . . . Hartzell cracked the pins for second high with 555 . . . and Crombie was third with 521 . . . other series counts were . . . Cooley 468 . . . Ramsey 444 . . . Wilson 448 . . . Connaway 453 . . . and Sack 487 . . . Hartzell took high game honors with a 186 . . . second came Gardner with a 176 . . . and Wilson was third with a 167 . . .

SUNDAY SPLITS . . . the Dixon Recreation Comets toured over to Paw Paw yesterday and matched pins with the Fleming Ridge Runners of the community . . . they bowled one full match of three games and then a second of two games . . . on both encounters the Comets maintained the long count . . . in the first match the Comets won 2671 to 2559 . . . Hahn rolled the high games and high series for this match to pace the Comets with 147 . . . 226 . . . and 225 for a series of 598 . . . other Comet scores were Dockery 513 . . . C. Hoyle 445 . . . Shultz 548 . . . R. Hoyle 567 . . . for the Ridge Runners, Fleming performed the leading duties with a 537 . . . Carnahan 535 . . . H. Knetsch 488 . . . G. Kelly 477 . . . J. Knetsch 522 . . . in the second match the Comets survived by the count of 1781 to 1690 . . . Hahn led the Comets again in the second fray as he set up the afternoon's high game mark with a 246 and added with 173 he rang up high series with 419 . . . Dockery 294 . . . C. Hoyle 343 . . . Shultz 413 . . . R. Hoyle 312 . . . for Paw Paw Fleming 317 . . . Carnahan 329 . . . H. Knetsch 337 . . . G. Kelly 303 . . . and J. Knetsch 304 . . .

BIT O' BOWLING . . . Robert (North Central school principal) Pruitt was trying his skill at making the big ball go 'round and 'round on the maples for the first time yesterday afternoon at the Lincoln Lanes . . . his scores weren't bad, either . . . bowling with Bob was Atty. Edwin W. Merrick, Jr. . . .

FROM TRI-CITIES . . . down Moline and Davenport way comes the news that just for the sake of interest and enthusiasm one of the best gals bowling teams from that territory has challenged the Sport Scribes of the various "newsies" down there to a bowling match . . . so don't any of you locals go gettin' any peculiar ideas for there's only one of us . . . unless you want to throw in the "Terrible Turk" and the guy we don't know, the Rasslin' Rushin . . .

LOST IS FOUND . . . for quite some time now the Rasslin' Rushin has been under cover . . . things have been getting a little hot for the ol' boy since Lyle "Eli" Myers offered that buck reward for his disclosure . . . so here's the latest from Risha . . .

Dere John—We've been laying low fore the last couple of daze to see just how eger the interested partys are in finding out are tru identity. Fore several reasons we will be glad to let you know who the Rasslin' Rushin is.

1. If we chek and find that the reward offers are bone fide we will be glad to help the kase along with a skeme to be unvalud at a later date.

2. Two many guys are being unjustly akused and there lives threatened. We don't want needles bludshed.

3. The informashun kontained in the letters we've sent you is not the findings of won person butt a collaberashun and slow butt shure we're losing our sources of informashun dew to feer of being connected with the Rushin, draft etc. We can not cover the possible candidates for Rock River dunking by ourself.

This all ads up to the fakct that within the next couple of weeks you will know who the Rasslin' Rushin, really is—

All this sonds like a war komunik and speeking of war did you no that all beauty operators, male or dames are to be drafted. They're wanted fore the camoflage divishun. There is no truth to the fakct that the British navy are investigating building ships out of Ivory soop. That you can not be defured if you don't smoke Pall Malls, that fencing is not an agrikultural persuit, the infantry is not for babies and Italian Balm is not a Mussilini explosive.

Big Leaguers' Bats Start Season Race Swinging Tomorrow

Brownies To Visit White Sox Tuesday And Cubs Meet Cardinals in St. Louis; Pale Hose In Cleveland On Friday

New York, April 13—(AP)—If all the hopes, desires and predictions are fulfilled this year for managers of major league baseball teams, the first divisions of both the circuits are going to be a little crowded.

On the eve of the start of the pennant campaigns, not a single manager could be found today who was willing to admit that his club wasn't tagged for an upper berth at the end of the five-and-a-half months' jaunt.

Half of them, if the weather doesn't interfere, are due for a setback tomorrow when all 16 teams are scheduled to break from the barrier together in the first wartime season in 24 years.

The lineup sends New York to Washington, Philadelphia to Boston, St. Louis to Chicago and Cleveland to Detroit in the American League, while the national loop will find Brooklyn at New York, Boston at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati and Chicago at St. Louis.

The war shared honors with the pennant prospects as the principal topics of conversation in comments collected by The Associated Press from the pilots of the various teams.

From 24-year-old Lou Boudreau, who begins his assignment as manager of the Cleveland Indians, to 79-year-old Connie Mack, ready for his 49th season as a skipper and his 42nd with the Philadelphia Athletics, the club leaders agree that baseball is in for a big year in spite of the war.

Most of them believe that the conflict will have some effect on the play of the teams, varying as the season progresses and the draft makes further inroads on the personnel, but none expects business at the gates to decline.

Few dared to pick a winner in the National League, but American League managers with the exception of Joe McCarthy, think the New York Yankees are the boys to beat.

Connie Mack, who declined to confirm or deny what they're saying about his Athletics, picked the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox to run one-two in the American League but warned that the Chicago White Sox have hidden strength that might put them on top.

Yanks and Cards Likely Winners
In the opinion of Billy Southworth, whose St. Louis Cardinals are being picked to battle it out with the Dodgers for the National League flag, the 1942 Cards "are a stronger defensive ball club, and have added speed and pitching to an already good pitching staff."

"It'll be the Yankees again in the American League," said Jimmy Dykes of Chicago's White Sox. "We're an improved ball club but the best I'm hoping for is third place."

Luke Sewell of the St. Louis Browns summed up the situation with: "Anything can happen. The team that gets the breaks will win the race in the American League. The war is the important thing now. If we don't win that we won't have baseball. The several players we've lost to the armed services so far have not been drafted—they enlisted."

Brooklyn was picked to repeat in the National League by Jimmy Wilson of the Chicago Cubs, who added: "The Cubs are going to be a lot stronger than last season. We're out to win the pennant just like every other team. I hope we'll finish among the contenders."

Tuesday's and Friday's Openers
Tomorrow's schedule of opening games in the major leagues, with starting times, expected attendance and probable pitchers: (Time is Eastern War).

American League
New York at Washington, 3:00, 30,000, Bonham vs Hudson.
Philadelphia at Boston, 3:00, 25,000, Marchildon vs Newsome.
St. Louis at Chicago, 4:00, 15,000, Auker or Muncie vs Rigney.
Cleveland at Detroit, 3:00, 35,000, Bagby vs Benton.
National League
Brooklyn at New York, 3:00, 50,000, Davis vs Hubbell.
Boston at Philadelphia, 3:15, 10,000, Javery vs Johnson.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, 2:30, 39,000, Butcher vs Walters.
Chicago at St. Louis, 4:00, 15,000, Passeau vs Cooper.
Friday's "second openers" will be:
American League
Boston at New York, Washington at Philadelphia, Detroit at St. Louis, Chicago at Cleveland.
National League
Philadelphia at Brooklyn, New York at Boston, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Chicago.

GREAT INCREASE
In 1940, the United States produced 1,350,000,000 barrels of crude oil, as compared with production of 335,000,000 barrels in 1917.

EXTREMITIES
The easternmost point of the United States is West Quoddy Head, near Eastport, Maine. The westernmost point is Cape Alva, Wash.

A survey made early in 1942 indicates that an average of 500 pounds of scrap iron can be gathered from every farm in the country.

PIRATES FINISH ON TOP IN GRAPEFRUIT LEAGUE

New York, April 13.—(AP)—The Grapefruit League finally has been squeezed dry and today the golden yellow rind is awarded to the Pittsburgh Pirates, who nudged the St. Louis Browns out of the spring training title by a percentage margin of .741 to .739.

The Bold Buccaneers won 20 and lost seven exhibition games in their transcontinental warmup for the regular National League season while the Brownies captured 17 and lost six.

The standings Intra-League, first and second column, all games third column—

The Day Shift

"Some one forgot to unhitch Squirrelaway."

Derby Future Book Is One Big Puzzle

New York, April 13.—(AP)—The Kentucky Derby future book came in for a new paint job today, and the picture was so mixed up it had all the earmarks of a bookmaker's dream.

Recent running events left six horses all tangled up in the "chalk" and four or five others so well liked that quite a few of the boys and girls were inclined to toss a buck or two on them.

At any rate, the results of last week's goings-on at Keeneland and Jamaica boosted Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver, William Woodward's Apache and Warren Wright's Sun Again right up front and center with Alsab and Requested, the Florida Fellows, and Col. Ed Bradley's Bless Me, who hasn't done a lick of paying work since he turned three.

At the same time, creditable jobs by Valdina Orphan and Hollywood, both from the barn of the western cattleman, Emerson Woodward; Walter Chrysler's Remillies, the hard-luck juvenile of 1941, and William Ziegler Jr.'s Wait a Bit, who came tearing after Apache in the stretch at Jamaica Saturday, have brought out new backing—and with cash.

Bunched at 5 to 1 by some bookmakers in the new line are Alsab, Requested, Apache, who won the experimental handicap at Jamaica; Devil Diver and Sun Again, who ran one-three at Keeneland last week with Whirlaway in between 'em and Bless Me, whose only contribution was a fairly creditable mile workout last Thursday. Other more generous—if any—odds-players quoted 5-1 on Alsab, Requested and Apache and 6-1 on the other three.

White Sox Take the Cubs - City Series

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Another season, and another Chicago City Series—for the White Sox.

The losers—the Cubs—really made a fight of it this spring, however. They rallied to win three straight games and tie up the series at five tilts apiece going into yesterday's finale at Comiskey Park, home of the Sox.

The Cubs were still in the running through 7½ innings, the score then being tied at 3-3. But before the eighth inning was concluded the Sox scored, Joe Kuhel and Luke Appling executing a double steal for the run that brought a 4-3 victory, and the spring championship.

Victim of the trickery was Eddie Hanyzewski, South Bend, Ind., rookie who is attempting to leap from semi-pro ranks to the major leagues without benefit of minor league seasoning.

Had Hanyzewski enjoyed a little better support from his mates, he might not have missed the run that Kuhel stole. As it was the Cubs made only five hits off Bill Dietrich, who hurled the first four innings for the Sox, and then went hitless the rest of the way against Lefty Ed Smith.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, April 13.—Baseball season opens tomorrow, and the day after the fishing season begins in most northern states. . . . What a week for spring fever! . . . This dept is stringing along with the majority in figuring the Yanks and Cards will be the pennant winners and we think the Indians will do better than a lot of folks expect. . . . Outside of that, we're keeping quiet. Somebody might remember our picks next October. . . . New sporting news baseball record book (replacing the old official guide) is off the press with a lot of new features and it will take a real fan to read all 500 or so pages before the season ends.

Monday Matinee
Dutch Harrison's formula for winning the Masters' (or any other big golf tournament): "Shoot 28 on the first nine and then turn on the heat coming home." . . . Looks as if Paul Runyan had that Augusta affair figured out. He said: "If you stand all right with Hogan, you don't have to worry about par." . . . Due to the shortage of infielders at Washington, 40-year-old Ossie Bluege, who played third base for 20 years, may open at second for the Nats. . . . It cost the Yanks and Dodgers about $40,000 when those two exhibitions in Brooklyn were called off. . . . Wonder how much it cost the Giants to come home from Mississippi via Oklahoma City, Wichita and Cleveland without getting in a game?

Today's Guest Star
Jere R. Haynes, Dallas (Tex.). Times-Herald: "Odd thing, this national pastime. At times one is at a loss to figure out how it gets such a strong hold on the men associated with it. But the fact remains that almost every man who ever has been connected with baseball always has the same love for the sport."

Service Dept.
St. Louis reports the Cards' and Browns' chains have contributed more than 100 ball players to the armed forces. . . . When the Navy moves into the Notre Dame campus, two guys who expect to be among the first to arrive are Hank Toczylowski, and Tom Powers, quarterback and assistant coach, respectively, under Frank Leahy at Boston College. . . . Lieut. James A. Harden, tabbed "The bayonet expert of the 31st Division", credits his skill to his football, boxing and basketball training at Middle Georgia College and Vanderbilt U.

Last Laugh
When the authorities ruled that school buses couldn't be used to transport high school teams to contests, it put a serious crimp in Ohio's 1,154-school athletic program. . . . But Sports Ed, Jim Schlemmer of the Akron Beacon-Journal commented: "Some weeks ago a lady wrote me a letter in which she solved the whole transportation problem for school athletic teams during the war. Her suggestion was that each school play home games only. It begins to look like she had something."

Wanted, in 1942, at least 9,000,000 tons of paperboard to pack shells, guns and planes for our armed forces. Governor Green asks that you save this newspaper. It will help to win the war.

Boxboard orders are six to eight weeks behind in being filled today, so hard are manufacturers pressed to meet defense and civilian demands.

Governor Dwight H. Green and the Illinois State Council of Defense urge you to save this newspaper. Paper is needed to help win the war.

Toronto Downs Red Wings in 4th Game of Stanley Series

Detroit, April 13.—(AP)—Hockey's Stanley Cup Series, which was beginning to look like a soft touch for the Detroit Red Wings with no great excitement about it, was turning red hot today in an aftermath to bad blood and battle.

The Toronto Maple Leafs were still in the contention after their first victory in four games and President Frank Calder of the National League had suspended Manager Jack Adams of the Wings while slapping $100 fines on two Wing players.

A witness to fist fights after Toronto's 4 to 2 triumph last night, Calder suspended Adams indefinitely and fined Eddie Wares and Don (the Count) Grosso, All three, he said, had figured in an attack on Referee Mel Harwood.

The suspension of Adams prohibited him from "taking any further part in the bench management" of the Red Wings, but it was debatable whether that would keep the pugnacious Detroit boss from running his team in tomorrow night's game at Toronto.

When last night's game ended, a melee broke out involving Adams, Wares, Grosso, Referee Harwood and others. The referee had fined both Grosso and Wares in the course of the game. His decisions had been protested by players and booed by fans.

Vesper Concert

A vesper concert was presented by the musical groups of the P. H. S. Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium.

Don Smith, president of the music council, the sponsoring organization, had appointed the following committees who were in charge of arrangements: Carol Coffey, William Folk and Priscilla Coffey. The following program was under the direction of C. E. Rose, instructor in music:

All in the April Evening, Robertson; Czech-Slovakian Dance song, arr. Krone; Lost in the Night, Christiansen, mixed chorus. Evening Voices, Berg, boys' chorus. The Bluebirds (Russian folk song), Leontovick; The Lost Chord, Sullivan, mixed chorus.

Canzonetta, Mendelssohn, clarinet quartet.

Awake! 'Tis Spring, Eliot; Robin in the Rain, Cain, girls' glee club.

Rain, Curran; Spirit Flower, Campbell-Tipton, girls' sextet. Violin solo, First movement of Violin Concerto, Viotti, Phyllis Stump.

Celtic Lullaby, Robertson; Snow Legend, Clokey, girls' chorus. Hungarian Dances Numbers 5 and 6, Brahms; Andante Movement from "Surprise" Symphony, Haydn, orchestra. Vocal solo, Invictus, Huhn; The Two Grenadiers, Schumann, Dean Johnson, baritone.

Rakoczy March, Hungarian; Pizzicato Polka, Strauss, orchestra.

Finale: Festival Hymn, Mariys Jean Blough; arr. by Music Theory class, orchestra and combined choruses.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Scrapped iron and steel from 26 automobiles will provide enough scrap to make a light tank of 15 tons and twice that amount of cars would make a 27 ton medium tank. About 9,000 junked cars will make enough for the full of a heavy cruiser.

Army Recalls All Rifles Now Used By State Militia

Washington, D. C., April 13—(AP)—State guardsmen and army military police battalions will be armed with shot guns, the war department reported in announcing it was repossessing from civilians more than 44,000 rifles to be turned over to troops of the united nations.

At the same time, an appeal was made to sportsmen who own 1903 model Springfields or 1917 Enfields to turn them over to the army if in condition for military use.

The war department said 44,000 of these weapons were sold to members of the National Rifle association to foster civilian marksmanship in peacetime. These will be repossessed along with a few weapons sold to members of independent rifle clubs.

Shotguns Meet Requirements
Springfield and Enfield rifles issued to the state guard and the army military police battalions will be recalled. Shot guns will "fully meet their arms requirements," the war department said.

The roundup effort was announced shortly after Sen. Russell (D., Ga.) made public a telegram to Secretary Stimson protesting the recall of rifles issued to the Georgia state guard.

Officials declined comment on the protest.

None to Be Used by U. S. Forces
None of the recalled weapons, it was indicated, are for use by the United States army forces which are armed with the new fast firing automatic Garand. This, like the older model rifles, fires .30 caliber cartridges.

The roundup order marked a new phase of army ordnance history. Nearly two million Enfields of a British design were turned out for the army during the first World war because the Springfield, then the army's standard, could not be produced fast enough.

At the start of the present war, many of the Enfields were in storage. Several hundred thousand were turned over to the British after the battle of Dunkirk, and others went to arm the Filipinos.

Dogs have been man's friend for some 50,000 years, as indicated by ancient cave drawings.

Free Americans Do Not Plan Surrender to Any Racketeers

—H. V. KALTENBORN
Commentator Says Real Leadership Needed in Administration

By H. V. Kaltenborn
In the final minute of America's Town Meeting of the air ten days ago an important question was put to both Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and myself. "This was the question: 'Will you tell us how we are supposed to understand the government's continued tolerance of labor as well as the lack by business of complete cooperation with all-out-for-defense movements?'"

Secretary Ickes had the first word; he replied: "My answer is very short—I don't know." So I ventured this reply: "I think I do know. The reason is that this administration which has been as friendly to labor as any administration the United States has ever had, has hesitated to change any part of that policy when we went from peace to war. It has carried something that was good for peacetime into wartime, where it is bad." The reaction of the audience seen and unseen indicates that approximately 99% of the American people feel the way I do about this. And today I want to bring you as a witness a man who is just as close to the president as Secretary Ickes. A man who doesn't say "I don't know" when asked one of the most important questions we face today. A man who says "I do know." He says it in the leading article of the April issue of the Atlantic Monthly. He is Wayne Coy, known as one of the most effective trouble shooters in the Federal service. That is why President Roosevelt made him his own personal liaison officer for the office of Emergency Management. He is one of the higher-ups in Washington who knows what's wrong and has the courage to say so. He starts right in by telling us that if our government continues as it is: "It will probably be the best government that ever lost a war."

He cites instance after instance of the way bureaucratic routine cripples our efficient war effort. He shows how pettifogging legalists squabble while men die—how questions of prestige and conflicting authority delay vital decisions—how one of the last American ships to reach the Dutch island of Java carried thousands of empty beer bottles because bureaucratic routine didn't know how to substitute war materials.

Wayne Coy hopes and believes that these trouble spots will remain isolated incidents. But he emphasizes Washington's inability to grasp the fact that "the enemy is upon us though we cannot see his fire." He sums it all up in this single paragraph: "This great working force of government must be lifted out of the workaday habits of peacetime bureaucracy. They must find a will for action that is attuned to our awesome needs. That is true of assistant secretaries who have spent time maneuvering for control of new authority. It is true of reception clerks at the War Department who lackadissically keep men waiting a quarter of an hour for admission badges. It is true of lawyers who delay important matters in order to perfect drafting of instruments, as though they were writing a will in peacetime. It is true of timid field officers, who let shortsighted superiors in Washington block matters that they know must be speeded." —Remember it is the President's right-hand man who says these things.

And if these things are true in Washington how can we expect the rest of the country to get out of its peacetime rut? —If the preservation of social gains is more important than winning the war then the boob-doggers are justified in using every trick to hold what they have. But by the same token so are the labor unions, and so are all those whose standard of living has been raised. Most fair-minded students of our war effort including Mrs. Roosevelt believe that our leaders, from the President down, have been too easy on all of us. They have believed in voluntary methods when most of us are crying out for a national service act which tells each one of us what we must do.

Mr. President—the people want to be told! They don't want any more appeals. They want stern uncompromising leadership.

Take the sale of defense bonds and stamps. I personally get a reaction of irritation every time I hear an appeal to buy defense mentioned on the air.

And if I feel that, millions of other Americans feel the same way. We want offense—not defense. We want to win the war. Yet the complacent Mr. Morgenthau tells us that because they have already been printed we'll have to wait until July 1, before we can call a defense bond a War Bond. Some one should tell Mr. Morgenthau that it would cost fifty cents to get a stamp with the word—war—on it.

I'd like to quote to Mr. Morgenthau a letter from one of his chief assistants. It comes from a Treasury Department state administrator who knows his job. He says: quote "I had charge of the five Liberty Loan campaigns in the First World War. This taught me a good bit about human nature. It is true, we used high pressure methods, but I found it was absolutely necessary to use such methods to get results. I firmly believe from my experience thus far in this war that the administration in Washington has been lax in putting on the pressure. We will have to take more drastic steps in the sale of defense bonds and stamps. We must do this to aid in the prosecution of the war and also to provide a financial reserve to tide people over the readjustment immediately following the war. Most important—we must prevent the buying of non-essentials at this time."

Here is one other sentence used by this collaborator with Secretary Morgenthau. He says: "Working people generally are anxious to do their bit, were it not for the restrictions placed upon them by the unions."

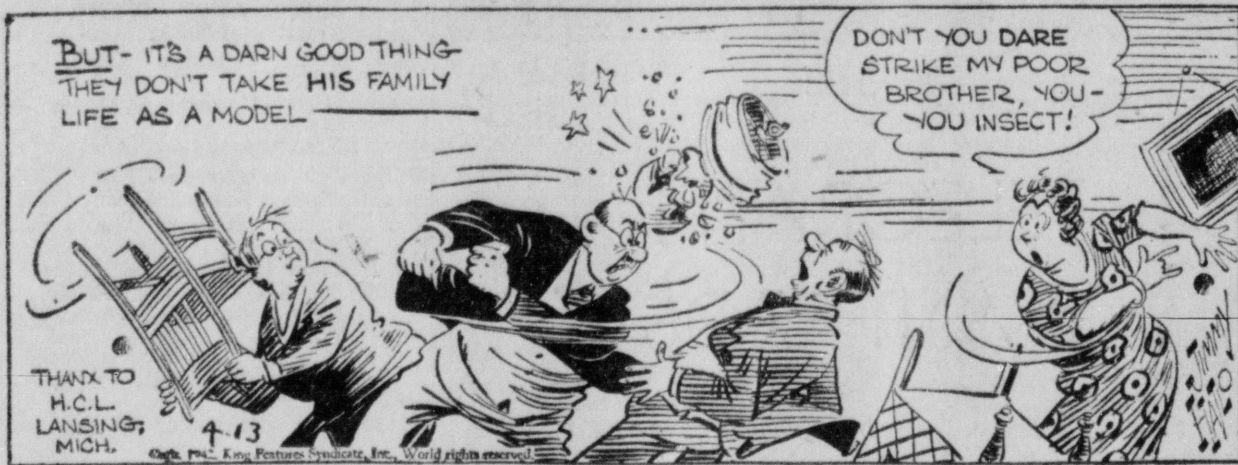

What are those restrictions? We have just been told what some of them are by Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general of the United States. Arnold is a staunch New Dealer. He has one of the best minds in Washington. He believes in labor unions as every intelligent man should. He sympathizes with their objectives as most of us do.

Yet out of the blue—pro labor sky of the White House entourage Arnold presents this country with the keenest, fiercest coldest most telling indictment of widespread labor racketeers ever to come from any friend of labor. The Department of Justice charges presented to the house judiciary committee by Mr. Arnold are summarized under six heads. They indict specific labor unions on these six counts:

1. Exploitation of farmers.
2. Undemocratic procedure including packing its membership.
3. Impeding transportation.
4. Making it impossible to get cheap mass production of housing.
5. Forcing business men to employ useless labor.
6. Restricting efficient use of men and machines.

Mr. Arnold points out that under the labor laws now on the statute books and under the interpretations of these laws by our courts business men all over the country are completely at the mercy of any labor group. Mr. Arnold says: "To-day, under federal law there is no right of the farmer which labor is bound to respect, there is no right of the consumer which labor is bound to respect, and there is no right of the small business man which labor is bound to respect. All three groups are entirely subject to the will of the labor union."

If anyone wants an explanation as to why spontaneous mass meetings are being held today in a hundred American cities, the office of the attorney general of the United States has provided it. Surely that isn't Nazi propaganda. That is the American people's Department of Justice demanding justice for the American people. And woe to any selfish group that tries to stand in the way. Not a single national leader of the A. F. of L. or the CIO had found his tongue today to answer Thurman Arnold. They remained anonymous or silent. You and I know that what Mr. Arnold says is true. Piled up on my desk coming from farmers and patriotic union members who are working in America's war plants is the evidence that it is true. If anyone tries to use a paint spraying machine on certain war construction jobs the union says—you must use union painters to do the work and the employer must obey. In the shipyards there are interminable delays because men handling steel are not permitted to touch the wooden scaffolding that is in their way. On some jobs two men must stand around doing nothing while one man does the work—union rules.

In peacetime we can tolerate many things to help spread employment. But in wartime we have no right to tolerate anything that delays production. We have no right to tolerate it from those who would force up wages, when all wages must be kept down. We have no right to tolerate it from those who would grab more profits when all profits must be kept down. And above all, we the people of the United States need not tolerate a casual approach to the problems of this war by those who govern us.

Here is the great government of the United States pulling men away from the war plants in St. Louis, Missouri by offering them higher pay and two months vacation in each year. What an example to the men in the armed services. Listen to this three column advertisement published by your Uncle Sam in the March 12 issue of the St. Louis Post Dispatch. The big headline is: "Men wanted—for duty with the United States Government at the Panama Canal." There is no appeal to patriotism. The ad begins: Anglesmith $1.56 an hour — Blacksmith $1.48 an hour and so on through a list of sixteen wartime occupations in everyone of which there is a shortage in war plants all over the country. And Uncle Sam goes on in heavy black type: "Above pay rates based on forty hour week. Time and one half for work over forty hours. And you can get bachelor quarters for $8.50 a month. And you get fifty-one working days leave per year with pay."

The one thing the ad doesn't make clear is whether you get paid overtime for the Saturdays and Sundays that fall in your vacation. How do you suppose the operators of the war plants in St. Louis feel when Uncle Sam takes away their men by offering them two months vacation with pay. How do you suppose the men in

Whirligigs in Celluloid

Strange Way For a Gal To Be Making a Living

Hollywood (Wide World) — Strange, indeed, are the way some gals make their living in the movies!

Typical is the case of Jean Criswell, 26 and pretty as a picture. On cue, she walked across a soundstage, hunched her shoulders, spat on her hands and threw a 280 pound wrestler, Mike Mazurki, over her shoulders.

"Okay," said Director Al Lewin. "There's your $35. See you again."

Miss Criswell earns her living as a movie stunt girl, but her work is harder by far than that of most other stunt girls in the business.

Three years ago she gave up the softer aspects of her work, such as falls at $20 a day, or relatively easy things like tumbling off of balconies. She's no sissie! She likes to specialize in things that men usually are called upon to do—barroom fights, for instance. But she has one problem. She's much too attractive to be taken seriously as a stunt girl—so makeup men must spoil her looks with unsightly facial blemishes, just to give her the appearance of being tough.

But at $35 a day—who cares? Certainly not Miss Criswell.

Silk and Nylon Abandoned
Hollywood believes in anticipating the trends. For instance, it's fairly certain that silk and nylon stocks will soon become a rare treat for the legs of many women. They'll wear cotton or go bare-legged. So movie makers are figuring that when that time comes, women on the screen will be much more popular if they follow suit.

Already ahead of the trend by going completely stockingless is the entire feminine cast in "Road to Morocco," the new Bob Hope-Bing Crosby comedy. From Dorothy Lamour, who is starred, down through a list of 31 woman principals and small part players, as well as several dozen extras—all wear no more leg covering than a thin coat of makeup.

Silver Makes Gold
A gold tooth generally is recognized as a common human accessory—not as common as it used to be in grandpappy's day, perhaps—but still common enough. So who would expect the lack of one to stump a studio pro? Those fellows pull everything from curling irons to white elephants out of the bin.

But because nobody could produce a gold tooth, production was held up temporarily on "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." It so happens that it was established early in the story that Mr. Wiggs, who doesn't return from the Klondike until almost the last reel, has a bright metal incisor smack in front. Yet when Harry Shannon checked in to commence his role as Mr. Wiggs, his affable smile revealed an unbroken expanse of pure white enamel.

Director Ralph Murphy practically had a fight right there on the stage! Immediate search was begun, but they never did find a gold tooth among the myriad studio properties. If they had, it probably wouldn't have fitted. Besides, they finally concluded it would have photographed black anyway. For the same reason, gold paint wouldn't do. So, at long last, Mr. Wiggs' gold tooth was made with a touch of silver paint. The movies are wonderful!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 12.

The Golden Text was, "The prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him" (James 5:15).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. For we are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end" (Hebrews 3:12, 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the illusion of sickness or sin tempts you, cling steadfastly to God and His idea. Allow nothing but His likeness to abide in your thought. Let neither fear nor doubt overshadow your clear sense and calm trust, that the recognition of life harmonious—as Life eternally—is—can destroy any painful sense of, or belief in, that which Life is not" (p. 495).

Green Asks Ickes to Give Illinois Control Over Oil

Says Federal Regulation Has Lowered Production in This State

Springfield, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—Governor Green announced today that Illinois will appeal for a modification of federal oil drilling regulations when the national conference of state petroleum regulatory authorities holds its first meeting tomorrow in Washington.

The ruling which Illinois hopes to have relaxed, the governor said, is that known as M-68, limiting drilling of new wells to one for every 40 acre tract so as to conserve steel.

"Due to natural and inherent differences the federal regulatory ruling providing for only one well to 40 acres works a greater hardship on the Illinois basin than on some of the other oil producing states," Governor Green said in a statement.

"Federal authorities invoked the regulation to conserve steel, stimulate the search for new oil reserves and at the same time protect those already discovered. Thus far, it has had a reverse effect in Illinois. There has been a loss in production and an alarming decline in development which may mean an important part of the reserves may be not recovered."

What Illinois wants, Governor Green continued, is revision of that part of the M-68 order requiring that wells be drilled either in the center of each 40-acre tract or in a "uniform pattern." The location of the well within each tract should be left to the state, he said, to be determined by "operators' judgment and geological determinations."

Statistics Prepared
The governor said Illinois representatives at the Washington parley would cite these statistics to support the plea for state control of well spacing, within the limitations of M-68:

The percentage of "dry holes" in relation to oil wells drilled in Illinois jumped from 25 per cent in the three months before the order went into effect last Dec. 23, to 48 per cent in March and 61 per cent in the first week of April.

Illinois oil production, currently about 320,000 barrels daily, has dropped about 100,000 barrels a day in the last 20 weeks.

The number of wells completed since M-68 has dropped 54 per cent, with only 446 wells drilled in the state in the first three months this year compared with 970 in the last three months of 1941.

Declaring M-68 "imposes the arbitrary location of wells," the governor added:

Hopes for Adjustments
"If the location of drilling operations could be turned back to the state, operating results could no doubt be improved by again considering the operators' judgment."

ment and geological determinations. We hope that this and other inequities that arise, including those facing the small operators and land owners as a result of the federal ruling, can be adjusted.

"The Illinois petroleum industry must not only meet the present demands of the war program but new oil fields must be found to take care of any additional demands that might be asked of Illinois. Illinois' geographical location is strategic in this war. Our state has the largest oil fields nearest the east coast which makes Illinois crude oil worth more to the federal government than the crudes from the states farther west and south."

To the Washington conference of oil state representatives, called by Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes, the governor said he would send G. C. Curtis, superintendent of the Illinois Oil and Gas Division; S. F. Peterson, petroleum engineer; Clarence T. Smith, the state's representative on the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, and A. H. Bell, chief of the oil and gas division of the state geological survey.
